A RAYMOND COURT IDYLL

The Blackmores and the Gysts Were Mixed Up in It.

Edward Gyst and Oscar Blackmore were before Alderman Howe last evening. Gyst being the defendant in the case. Blackmore has served a term in jail and Gyst's claim to fame rests on the fact that he fell 120 feet from the sixth story of the Hotel Jernyn building during the course of its erection, and also fell down the improvised elevator shaft of the same building, where he was employed as "professional" climber. He escaped with only minor injuries at both falls.
These two men with their wives on Thursday night in a house in Raymond court had a lively time.
A quarrel was duly started. A lamp chimney fell from a table to the floor and when Blackmore made an insulting remark Gyst hurled the chimney at him. Instead of striking Blackmore the glass hit his wife, Mrs. Blackmore, on the back of her head.
A long gash was inflicted but the wound was not serious. Blackmore yesterday caused the arrest of Gyst, charging him with threats. The case was amicably patched-up last evening before Alderman Howe.

GRAND JURY MAKES ITS SECOND RETURN

Big Batch of True and Ignored Bills Presented to Court.

GILLIS RELEASED FROM JAIL.

James Mustard Refused to Prosecute Him for Stealing Chickens--Grand Jury Could Not Dispose of the Business That Was to Come Before It Yesterday and Was Continued Next Week--List of the Bills That Were Returned.

The second return of the grand jury was presented to court this morning. It consisted of forty-nine true and thirty-nine ignored bills. Today the jury will not be in session as it is a legal holiday. Inasmuch as it was impossible to finish the work of the jury yesterday it was continued for another week.
Some time ago Thomas Gillis, of Green Ridge, was arrested at the instance of James Mustard of the same place on a charge of stealing chickens. He has been in jail ever since and yesterday his case was called before the grand jury. Mr. Mustard refused to prosecute and said he had no witnesses to produce.
Attorney Jones consulted with Judge Archbold who permitted a writ of habeas corpus to be entered in the case upon payment of the costs. Gillis was thereupon released from jail yesterday's report of the grand jury was as follows:

LECTURE ON THE X-RAY.

Delivered by Prof. Sharpsteen in the Auditorium of High School--Many Interesting Demonstrations.

The electrical engineer no doubt would have regarded much to beget from the X-ray lecture by Prof. S. H. Sharpsteen, given in the high school auditorium last night, but to the layman with little or no knowledge of the technical terms used, it was rather a disappointing affair.
An electrician Prof. Sharpsteen is unquestionably among the foremost but unfortunately he is lacking in the ability to present his ideas on the subject so that the average man can grasp them.
Of course it is a difficult thing to lecture on a technical subject to a lay audience, particularly on such an extremely technical subject as X-rays. It is not to be understood, however, that last night's audience was bored by any means. Many of the experiments were such that the untutored could understand them quite thoroughly and there were only a few which could not be appreciated in at least a crude kind of way.
The lecturer told of the different kinds of electricity, how the ordinary commercial current, with which buildings are lighted are transformed by means of various kinds of apparatus into electricity with high voltage for X-ray and other experiments and gave some mystifying experiments to demonstrate the depth to which twentieth-century man has delved into this marvelous science.
One of the interesting parts of the lecture was the portion dealing with X-ray burns, to which element of the subject Prof. Sharpsteen was forced to give particular attention from the fact that his wife on whom he experimented with high voltage for X-ray and other experiments and gave some mystifying experiments to demonstrate the depth to which twentieth-century man has delved into this marvelous science.

CANNOT FIND A WILL.

Letters of Administration May Have to Be Issued.

As yet no one has been able to locate the will of the late James M. Everhart, the wealthy brass manufacturer and capitalist, who died several weeks ago at the residence of his brother, Dr. I. F. Everhart. It was supposed that Mr. Everhart left a will but since his death no such instrument has been found among his effects.
Yesterday inquiry was made at Wilkes-Barre among lawyers whom it was thought might have drawn up a will for Mr. Everhart. It failed to disclose such a document. If the will is not found before Monday application will be made to Register of Wills Hopkins for letters of administration on the estate.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The growth of the Scranton School of Music and Languages, during the past year, has been such that its director, J. Alfred Pennington finds it necessary to occupy these rooms June 1. Three of the rooms open into each other in such a way as to afford a commodious place for recitals and other public functions. The vocal studio, an especially beautiful room, will contain a stage for training in concert department. As other departments are added the number of pupils will be increased. Among the important features of next year's work will be the weekly pupils' recitals and musical soirees, also free lectures by the language professor. The new features made possible to the school in its new and extremely pleasant quarters will doubtless largely increase the popularity which it already enjoys.

The music at Elm Park church tomorrow will be furnished by a trio, consisting of Miss Wolfe, Mr. Wooler and Mr. Thomas. Miss Purdy, contralto, of New York, is expected to sing during the summer months, commencing the first Sunday in June.

Professor George B. Carter, organist, formerly of Elm Park, has been engaged for the third year at Beecher's church, in Elmira, and will receive two months' vacation this season.

Miss Sadie Kaiser, the well-known soprano, who has been singing with great success in London and other English cities, expects to return to America this month.

It is expected that a large chorus from Scranton will compete for the chorale prize at the Allentown contest on Thanksgiving day.

The quartette at the Jewish synagogue will take a four week rest, owing to the absence of the Rabbi.

Souza's new song, "Flag Forever," has reached the city. It is one of his best for brass bands.

Mr. Bowen, tenor, is giving satisfaction at First Presbyterian church.
